Computhink's ViewWise Solution "Works with Windows Server 2008®" and on Microsoft SQL Server 2008®

Lombard, IL, July 21, 2009 – Computhink has announced its ViewWise Document Management Solution has officially achieved the "Works with Windows Server 2008" designation and is also now fully compatible with Microsoft SQL Server 2008.

"Microsoft continues to improve on and provide solid platforms on which to operate our ViewWise solution," said Vince Smolek, Computhink's Director of Product Management. "By achieving the Works With designation for Window Server 2008 and by participating in the Innovate On program for SQL Server 2008, Computhink assures our customers full support for the latest Microsoft Platforms."

Microsoft Windows Server 2008 provides an updated operating system to run the ViewWise Document Management server components. With Windows Server 2008, ViewWise customers can take advantage of expanded security options, increased reliability, better virtual machine support, and enhanced terminal service functionality.

Microsoft SQL Server 2008 offers a proven database platform with updates in the areas of performance, scalability, and reliability.

"SQL Server 2008 is the best release yet of our mission-critical data platform for running enterprise applications, business intelligence, and data warehousing" said Dan Neault, General Manager, SQL Server Marketing at Microsoft Corp. "Customers will reap great benefits from our enterprise-level scalability, reliability and performance with a simply-outstanding value proposition."

In working in conjunction with Microsoft Windows Server 2008 and SQL Server 2008, ViewWise continues to offer users the flexibility to utilize the latest industry tools they demand, while providing a Document Management solution with secure desktop and Web access to content, storage management, retention, workflow, document imaging, E-mail Archiving, Microsoft Office and GroupWise integration, support to view, search and print from over 400 file formats, and much more.
